GHASTLY FIND HOPED TO CLEAR UP MYSTERY

Man Might Have Been Murdered: More Likely Killed Himself.

Once more has the silent wooded Mt. Tamalpais been vainly called upon to shed some light upon the mystery surrounding the decayed remains of a human body which were found on its eastern slopes Monday afternoon by two San Francisco pleasure seekers who reported their gruesome discovery to Deputy Recorder Lorrell of Mill Valley late that day.

The remains, those of a man, were found four miles below the spot where on the 2d of February the bleached bones of a woman were discovered with her skull crushed and her body showing other evidence of having received brutal treatment.

IMPROBABLE THEORY
That two persons should meet death under such peculiar circumstances and not be missed from an area of a city adjacent to San Francisco seems improbable that they were in some way associated is the clue upon which the authorities will investigate.

RECORDS SMASHED IN AERO MEET AT RHEIMS

Le Blanc Beats Time for 62 Miles by Flying in 1 Hour and 16 Minutes.

Curtiss Makes Trip Over Sea at Night

Hoxey Dives Straight Downward From Height of One Hundred Feet.

BETHANY PLAINS, Rheims, July 6.—The speed contests yesterday in the international aviation meet were productive of remarkable flying by the monoplane. Le Blanc, with a Bristol machine, beat the world's record for 100 kilometers (62 miles), covering the distance in 1 hour 16 minutes and 11 seconds. He also established new records of 30, 40 and 50 kilometers.

Le Blanc, Latham and La Bouriere, all monoplane pilots, qualified to represent France in the Gordon Bennett contest in the United States.

Curtiss Flies Over Ocean.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 6.—Glen H. Curtiss made an eight minute flight directly over the ocean at 623 feet last night. The trip included a flight along the entire front of the city, about a mile off shore and 1500 feet above the ocean.

The successful flight was the second one attempted, the first resulting in a crash. Curtiss was seen to circle the ocean. While he was attempting to make a turn from the beach to go to the sea an air eddy caught the plane and dropped it within 10 feet of the breakers. Curtiss made a quick turn and drove his machine on the beach with such force that a wood stand alongside his seat was snapped. The drop in the air and the jer as he struck the beach unsettled Curtiss and he fell from the machine. He was not hurt, but his machine was damaged and he had to be helped to the machine.

Dives From Air.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 6.—Arch Hoxey, in a Wright biplane, dove almost straight downward from a height of 100 feet here yesterday after his engine had gone dead.

The machine was damaged, but Hoxey crawled out from a mass of planes, wires and stage outfit.

It was the first day of a four day aviation meet here. Hoxey was soaring at a height of 500 feet when his motor stopped. He tilted his planes and had floated down gently to within 100 feet of the ground, when one of the stage gang, mistaking the machine for a dropped prop, ran forward to catch it. Hoxey was not hurt, but the machine crashed to the ground.

Set Time Limit.

CHICAGO, July 6.—The rules and regulations to govern the proposed airplane race from Chicago to New York were made public yesterday. The contest is to begin at Chicago October 8 with at least three entrants, who must have previous records of sustained flights of an hour or more.

The time limit of the race is seven days, and the contestants will be allowed to make as many stops as they please. To win the prize of $25,000 the winner must make the flight before any flight of the same or greater distance has been made in any part of the course. The start must be within the city limits of Chicago and the finish within the corporate limits of New York City.

Aeroplane in War.

English in response to an inquiry as to his opinion in regard to the performance of Glenn H. Curtiss, who proved his ability to drop explosives on a given object from a height of over 500 feet.

Congressman English is a member of the Naval Affairs Committee of Congress and several telegraphic inquiries have been received from his colleagues in the East in regard to his opinion in the matter.

First Air Ferry.

NEW YORK, July 6.—According to this morning's American, a zeppelin dirigible balloon was brought into New York July 4, aboard the steamer George Washington, by Stuart Davis, of Providence, R. I., who intends to establish the first actual aerial ferry line in America.

In the near future the balloon is to carry passengers on regular trips between Narragansett pier and Newport, a distance of 14 miles in an air line. It is expected the line will be in operation within the next six weeks.

The balloon dirigible is the longest and most useful in construction. The craft is to run only on calm days and is expected the trip will be made within an hour. If the venture proves successful, other airships will be added to the fleet.

Want Championship.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Word has come from Paris to the members of the International Aviation meet, that many French aviators want to come here and try to capture the championship cup won by Glenn H. Curtiss of Rhode Island Aug. 18.

The meet will be held over the new course at Garden City in October. At the big aviation meet it is expected that the big aviation meet will be held at Garden City, N. Y., in October. At the big aviation meet it is expected that the big aviation meet will be held at Garden City, N. Y., in October.

Aviator Fights Fire.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 6.—Friends of Charles K. Hamilton, the aviator, are talking today of a new role which Hamilton essayed yesterday—that of a volunteer fire fighter. He saved a house, says by his up-to-date methods.

Hamilton was going along a road near Farmingdale, N. J., in his automobile when he overtook a volunteer fire company, talking along the road, drawing their fire engine toward a burning house.

He stopped his machine, hooked the engine on and towed it to the fire. Then it was discovered there was no water near the house to make the engine of any use. So Hamilton leaped his machine with milk cans, drove to the nearest water, filled the cans and drove back. A bucket brigade took the cans while Hamilton took on another load of supply cans.

CRAZED MOTHER DROWNS BABE TO SAVE IT FROM IMAGINARY KIDNAPERS

Fears Child Will Be Stolen, So Throws It Into Tub; Bowers Denies He Needs Actress-Wife's Help

DURANGO, Colo., July 6.—Crazed by the fear that her 6-year-old daughter would be kidnaped, Mrs. W. R. Luxton, wife of a well-to-do ranchman living ten miles from Cortez, drowned the child in a wash tub to save it from what her unbalanced mind considered a worse fate. Mrs. Luxton was found by Sheriff Garwith seated on the doorstep of the sheriff's home here last night. She told an incoherent story of a conspiracy to kidnap her daughter, and declared she had thwarted the plotters by holding the child's head in a tub of water until she was dead. The little girl's body was found in the tub at the Luxton ranch.

Diplomat's Romance Revealed

NEW YORK, July 6.—A romance in which a member of the diplomatic corps at Washington figured is revealed as the hero at the age of 50, was disclosed yesterday when it became known that Senor Ygnacio Calderon, minister to the United States from Bolivia, was married last Saturday at Mamaroneck to Miss Beatrice Monica Ashley.

The marriage of the distinguished South American is made doubly interesting on account of the fact that his bride was for some years employed in the Calderon family as a trained nurse. The diplomat's first wife died only last November. His daughter is Mme. Jorge Zeales and is classed as one of the most beautiful of the foreign legation set.

The marriage license was issued last Friday by Town Clerk Charles Stevens at Port Chester. The following day the ceremony was performed by Father Isidore Meister of the Holy Trinity Catholic church in Mamaroneck. Mary A. Atney and Elizabeth Martin were the only witnesses.

So profound was the secrecy imposed upon all connected with the marriage details that not even Mrs. Zeales, the daughter, was willing to believe the reports when seen in Washington last night.

"The story can hardly be true, because our mother is scarcely dead six months."

As further evidence that she knows nothing of her father's plans, Mrs. Zeales added:

"If you get any further news about it I shall be glad to be informed."

Senor Calderon was found at the home of his bride in Mamaroneck. He declined to discuss his romance until informed that a record of the license had been examined by a reporter. Then he attempted to explain that the license had simply been obtained for future use.

He seemed greatly embarrassed and would not admit that the ceremony had been performed until informed that he would have to make use of the license before July 31 or it would become void. Then, with a shrug of the shoulders he said:

"Very well, then, you may say that I have been married. I do not care to go into details, as I had hoped to avoid all publicity. I have not even informed the members of my immediate family. I have known the lady I married for several years. My reasons for secrecy are due to the fact that I did not acquaint the members of my immediate family with my plans, nor have I as yet informed them of my marriage."

Doesn't Need Miss Illington's Help

NEW YORK, July 6.—Edward J. Bowes, husband of Miss Margaret Illington, the actress, who is to give up domesticity for the glamour of footlights, is very much wrought up over "the fool dispatches from Tacoma" which state that his wife was returning to the stage to earn enough to help her husband retain and develop his real estate holdings in the north.

"If this were the case," said Bowes yesterday, "how would it be possible for me to finance the new play my wife is to appear in?"

"The dispatch declares that the failure of the Harriman railroads to build a separate line has delayed the development of my property. On the contrary, inasmuch as the Harriman people have formed a combination to bring a line into Tacoma, my property will be benefited. Outside of the new line coming into the city the Harriman interests have no bearing at all on my holdings. If I were had pressed for money do you think I would be able to finance the new stage venture?"

Bowes stated he and his wife would leave in a few days for Tacoma. The new play, which is an adaptation from the French, has not been named. The entire support for Miss Illington has not yet been selected. Some members of the company are in New York. Rehearsals will be held in Tacoma, where the production will first be given. Bowes says Miss Illington will play in San Francisco some time in September.

Wedding Follows Cabled Proposal

LOS ANGELES, July 6.—Eight days ago Sherman Jewett Bainbridge of Honolulu cabled a proposal of marriage to Miss Cleora Ode of San Francisco. She flashed her acceptance within thirty minutes, and yesterday she became Mrs. Bainbridge at the home of the groom's mother in this city. It was a record-breaking and surprising performance, for few of the friends of either knew that they were ever acquainted.

The two met in San Francisco about a year ago, but when the young man sailed for the islands the incident was forgotten by her family. He suddenly made up his mind months afterward, however, that he could not get along without her, and when her "I will" reached him he had twenty minutes to pack his trunk and catch the Manchuria. He rushed and got there.

In San Francisco Miss Ode was waiting, and Bainbridge, paying no attention to his baggage, dashed ashore Monday morning. They got to the Third and Townsend street station just before the Shore Line pulled out, and came on down on it without baggage. It was necessary to have the ceremony performed in this city because the groom is only 20, and required his mother's consent in the license office.

Marries Third Time

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 5.—For the third time Judge E. P. Hill, millionaire, and one of the former general counsel of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, will embark on the matrimonial sea, his bride being Miss Alida Allen, a working girl and until a few days ago one of the cashiers of the St. Anthony hotel here. She is now in New York with a companion.

The romance had its first inception in the hotel, the judge being the first guest when the hostelry opened a year and a half ago. Miss Allen is petite, quite witty and is gifted with a striking vocabulary. She was an immediate hit with the elderly judge, who only recently secured a divorce from his second wife. His first wife is dead.

Expert Golfer at Altar

CHICAGO, July 6.—Miss Isabelle Smith, expert golfer, who has met and defeated most of the women aspirants for golfing honors from California to Pennsylvania, was married to Luther M. Kennett of Pasadena, Cal., last night in St. Mark's Episcopal church, Evanston. Almost 1000 guests were present and attended the reception which followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Smith. The courtship of Miss Smith and Mr. Kennett began on the golf links at Pasadena, where the parents of both bride and groom have winter homes.

Witness in Burke Case To Be Brought Home

SANTA ROSA, July 6.—Before Judge Samuel Rowell this morning a conference of attorneys in the case against Dr. William P. Burke was held. The conference resulted in an extension of time being granted District Attorney Clarence P. Lea in which to determine upon which of the indictments he will try Dr. Burke. Originally the trial was set for July 1, but the departure of Lou Edis Smith in the case.

Lea has upset all the calculations in the case. District Attorney Lea is confident he can have the woman extradited from Japan, and Sheriff Jack Smith is preparing to make the trip after the woman by the next steamer. It is likely she is under arrest there now awaiting the action of the Sonoma county authorities.

University Payrolls Compared.

A recent report of President Hadley of Yale University deals with the question of salaries paid to professors, assistant professors and instructors employed in that institution. In view of the fact that the salaries paid to instructors and "near," or assistant professors in the University of California constituted the subject of severe criticism at a recent meeting of the University Board of Regents a comparison of the salary lists of Yale and Berkeley is pertinent. Regents Dohrman and Britton and others condemned severely the policy of paying only from $40 to $100 per month to university instructors and assistant professors, on the ground that they were underpaid. The deduction was plain and unavoidable that either inefficient were being employed to educate the students, simply because they were willing to accept a miserably low pittance, or that the board was not paying competent instructors and assistant professors what they were really worth. If the first inference drawn were correct, it was manifestly plain that the university funds were being wasted and a grave injustice was thereby being done the students' body by giving them inferior instruction. If the second inference was correctly drawn, then, of course, the injustice fell on the instructors and assistant professors who bear most of the drudgery of teaching.

The burden of the report of President Hadley was that the professors of Yale University are underpaid. On that point there is no complaint in the University of California. But in advocating the payment of higher salaries to the professors, Dr. Hadley presented the scale of salaries paid to all classes of teachers at Yale, as follows: Instructors, first year $1000, second year $1200, third year $1400, fourth year and thereafter $1600; assistant professors, first term of service $1800, second term of service $2500; professors $4000. Some of the professors, he added, were receiving only $3500 per annum and a few were receiving $5000.

Yale and California universities claim equal rank as educational institutions. But there is a vast difference between the salaries paid to the teaching forces of the two. Yale pays its instructors from $1000 to $1400 per annum, according to the term of service, and its assistant professors from $1800 to $2500 on the same basis. California University instructors and assistant or "near" professors get, on the other hand, only from $500 to $1200 per year. In both institutions these teachers are presumably required to do the same kind of classwork. If so, there is evidently something sadly out of joint in the Berkeley institution, for no complaint is made that Yale instructors and assistant professors are overpaid.

Fence mending is an active industry at present in all the Congressional districts throughout the country.

Danger in Race Riots.

The aftermath of the fight for the world's fistic championship is a series of race riots which, aside from the social danger lurking in them, show what a hollow pretense the claim of a world championship is and has been. If the white race cannot endure the passing of the title to a representative of the black race, then it must be confessed that the title was simply intended to be restricted to one branch of the human family; in other words, that the blacks, the reds and the yellows were to be excluded from consideration in the term "world's championship." In that case all races except whites should have been excluded from the competition.

Nobody can be rightfully proclaimed to be a world's champion who is not prepared to meet all comers, irrespective of color or race, and demonstrate his ability to beat them in fair and open combat, according to the rules governing the fistic arena. At the present day a black man has proved beyond the shadow of a doubt that he is the master of the man proclaimed to be "white man's hope." He faced the black to restore pugilistic supremacy to his own color and went down to defeat. Good sportsmanship was supposed to govern the test. So far as the actual encounter was concerned good sportsmanship prevailed. Now that the combat is over the color line has been drawn between the social groundlings of both races in various parts of the country and fire and rein has been given to racial prejudice.

Public opinion throughout the country at large had previously sounded the doom of pugilism. Now this lawless aftermath of the misnamed "battle of the century," in which the bitterness of racial prejudice is being displayed, has aroused a tremendously powerful public sentiment in favor of suppressing the moving picture reproduction of the Reno combat, on the broad ground that it constitutes a menace to the public peace which may lead to the development of a racial conflict more bitter and intense than the one which followed the close of the Civil War in the Southern States. The moral objection to professional prizefighting is overshadowed by the new danger to society which is being manifested in the racial riots that have broken out in various parts of the country as the direct result of the Reno battle.

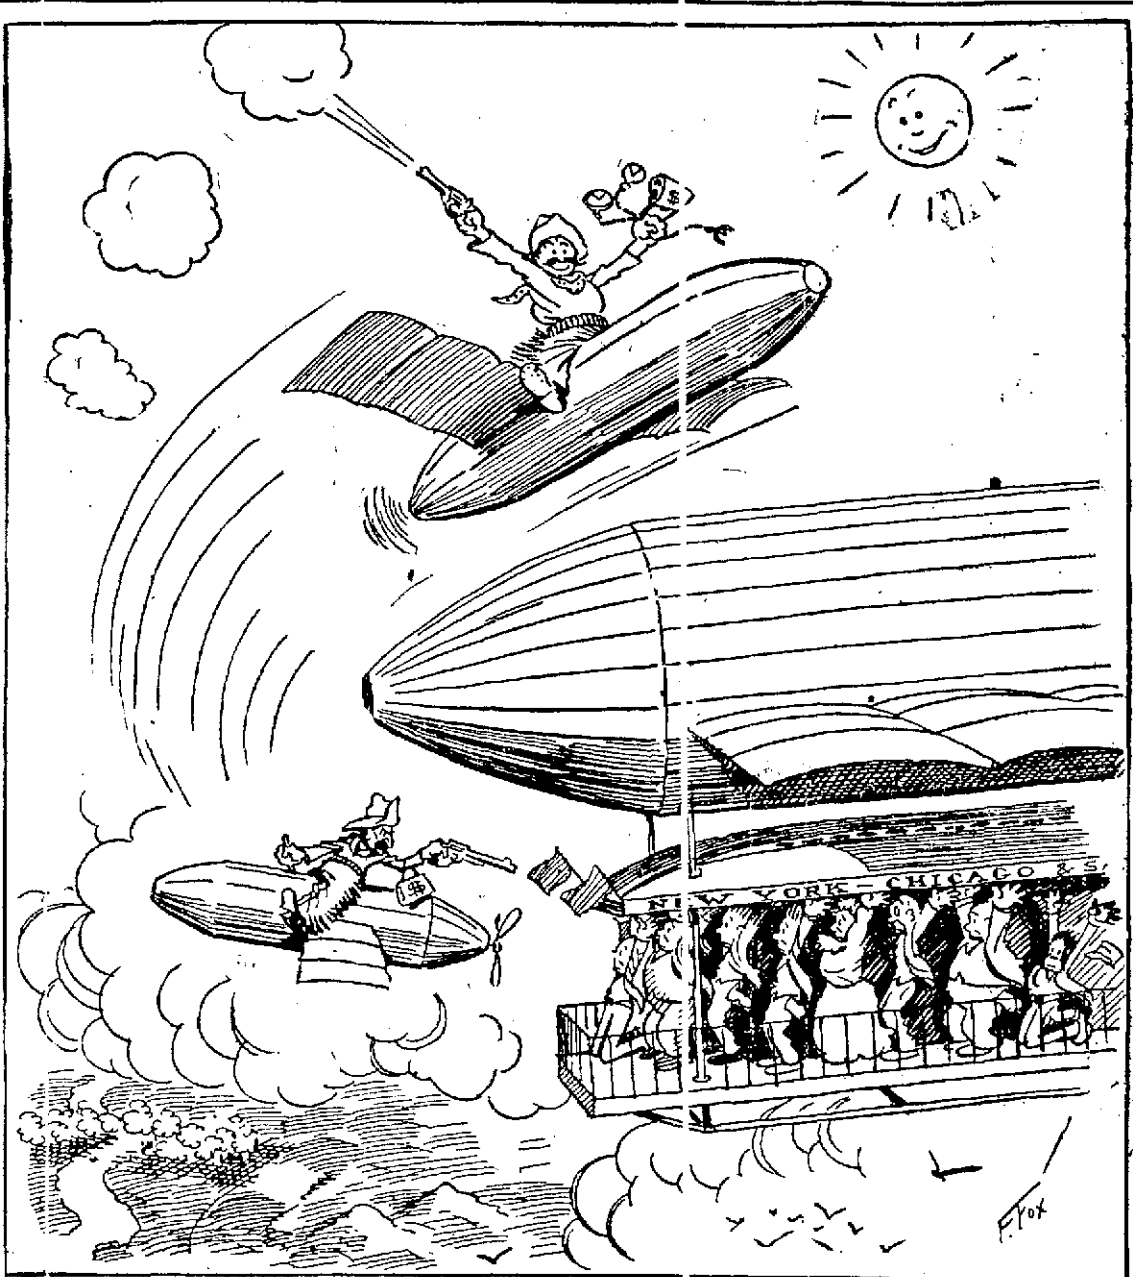

A monopoly of the Chinese gambling dens in Spokane which was secured recently by a shrewd wealthy Mongolian from San Francisco, who quietly bought up all the games, has produced the curious result of stopping gambling in the city's Chinatown. A Chinese boycott which has been established against the monopoly has, for the time being, at least, accomplished what all of the police powers of the city and state had been unable to do.

Political Issues in Britain.

It was predicted by political wisacres, after the last general election in the United Kingdom, that the Asquith cabinet would probably be forced to retire from office in May; at all events, it could not possibly survive beyond the month of June. But May and June have passed and Asquith and his colleagues still hold the reins of government. The tripartite alliance of Liberals, Laborites and Nationalists still holds, with reasonable prospect of the cabinet retaining office through the year at least.

Although the budget recently introduced contains the whisky tax which was so objectionable to the Nationalists in last year's budget as to induce them to refrain from voting on its final passage, it does not now constitute any element of serious danger. One reason for it is that the tax has not proved to be oppressive, as is shown by the fact that the revenues it produced were far below the estimates. In operation, however, it has proved to be a powerful agent for temperance; and in no part of the United Kingdom has the tide of temperance flowed stronger during the past two years than in Ireland. The Irish anti-whisky sentiment has, therefore, discounted the anti-whisky tax sentiment in the quarter where it was strongest when last year's budget was introduced. Moreover, the peril of forcing the issue has been removed by Asquith's announcement that final action on the budget will be postponed until the winter session, which will afford an opportunity, in the meantime, to dispose of the question of curtailing the veto power of the House of Lords.

THE JESSE JAMES OF THE NEAR FUTURE

The reorganization of the House of Lords and the restriction of its veto power constitute the main issue in Parliament, for on it hinges the final fate of the budget, home rule in Ireland and church disestablishment in Wales. Balfour, the Conservative Unionist leader, is striving to minimize the danger threatening the lords by compromise, and a conference with Asquith over the veto bill, which he succeeded in bringing about, has held up that measure for weeks. All other reforms are tied up until the final result of the conference is reached. If it does not end in a disagreement or in a satisfactory plan of reconstruction of the upper house and a curtailment of its veto powers, it will array the thirty-four members from Wales, who are solid for disestablishment of the Anglican church in the principality, against the government and alienate the Nationalists, for, although Welsh disestablishment bills have repeatedly passed the House of Commons and could have commanded a majority of 300 last year, they have always been defeated in the House of Lords, and home rule has no chance for success in the upper house as it is now constituted. But the probability is that the conference will terminate without accomplishing anything and leave the premier free to carry out his original program.

We accept an anecdote as a short, diverting story. Etymologically it means something as yet unpublished.

Told About People

Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of the famous Denver juvenile court, said in the course of a recent address on charity:

"Too many of us are inclined to think that, one misstep made, the boy is gone for good. Too many of us are like the cowboy.

"An itinerant preacher preached to a cowboy audience on the 'Prodigal Son.' He described the foolish prodigal's extravagance and dissipation; he described his penury and his husk eating with the swine in the sty; he described his return, his father's loving welcome, the rejoicing, and the preparation of the fatted calf.

"The preacher in his discourse noticed a cowboy staring at him very hard. He thought he had made a convert and addressing the cowboy, he said from the pulpit:

"My dear friend, what would you have done if you had had a prodigal son returning home like that?"

"Tie," said the cowboy, promptly and fiercely, I'd have shot the boy and raised the calf."

Referring to the memorial which was recently erected at Zeppelin, "Die Woche" says: "The home of the Zeppelin family is in South Germany, as everybody knows, but the little Mecklenburger town Zeppelin, near Butzenow, prides itself on having been the cradle of the illustrious family, and furnished the name of the great explorer of the air made famous. A massive boulder, resting on one of still greater size, forms the memorial which was unveiled in the presence of Count Zeppelin. Into the broad side of the rugged rock a bronze tablet has been sunk, recounting 'Count Zeppelin's achievements and the pride which the little town feels in calling him its son.

"As old Knute goes, so goes Minnesota."

That is the theory on which the great mass of Republican voters in Minnesota decide public questions of moment, according to a member of the House from that state.

They tell a story in the Senate cloak-rooms about a campaign orator who was delivering speeches in Minnesota. He marveled at the hold Nelson had on the people of the state. One day he was discussing the subject with a Norwegian political boss. To his amazement he discovered that the rest of the folks in Washington who were generally supposed to have something to do with shaping the destiny of the nation were a lot of amateurs when compared with Nelson. He therefore decided to put the matter to a supreme test.

"Knute Nelson," the Norwegian boss had declared, "he ban smart feller. Smartes feller in whole world."

"Do you think Nelson is as smart as the Almighty?" the campaigner asked.

"Wal," answered the Norwegian, scratching his head reflectively, "Knute, he ban young feller yet."—Washington Times.

HUSBAND DROPPED HOT ASHES DOWN NECK, SAYS WIFE IN DIVORCE SUIT

Woman Declares Spouse Asserted His Intentions of Becoming a Dog and Killing Her and Himself

Accusing her husband of dropping hot cigarette ashes down her neck in the presence of friends whom they were visiting in Oakland, Gertrude Helmer of Berkeley brought suit this forenoon in the Superior Court for a divorce from Charles C. Helmer, a traveling salesman with a salary of $175 a month, alleging extreme cruelty.

Mrs. Helmer's maiden name, which she asks the court to restore to her, was Gertrude DeVore. She was married to Helmer in January, 1900. Marital relations were fairly happy until the current year, the wife states in her complaint, when Helmer suddenly developed an ugly temper for some unexplained reason. One day in June, the wife alleges, Helmer threatened to kill her.

"I am going to be a dog, and not a man," the wife declares he said to her, "and I intend to kill you and myself."

Then he began searching for a revolver, but Mrs. Helmer escaped from the house.

Deserted Three Days After Marriage

Minnie E. Hostrawser of 661 Sycamore street was 18 years of age when she married Charles A. Eckert, in December, 1906, and left her mother's home. Three days after the ceremony she went back to the paternal roof a broken-hearted bride, for, according to the testimony upon which she was granted a final decree of divorce this morning by Superior Judge Wells, the man to whom he had given her heart and hand cruelly deserted and abandoned her.

Religious differences were responsible for her young husband's extraordinary abandonment, Mrs. Eckert told the court. Her family's belief was different from that of the Eckert family and for this reason her husband's mother had always bitterly opposed the union. Right after the marriage Mrs. Eckert told the court, Eckert's mother brought the matter to the final issue, with the result that he quit his bride without a word of warning, telling her to return to her girlhood home.

Deserted Wife Asks for Divorce

With the deliberate intention of deserting and abandoning his wife and 2-year-old daughter, Horace A. Warrington sent them to his father-in-law in San Rafael and sailed for Alaska, according to Millie W. Warrington's suit for a divorce filed in the Superior Court. This happened in May, 1909, and ever since then, the wife alleges, Warrington has failed to contribute anything towards the support of his family. Aside from a decree, Mrs. Warrington asks the court to grant her the permanent custody of the child and sufficient alimony for the support of both herself and the daughter. The couple were married at San Rafael in January, 1908.

Says Husband Failed to Provide

Lillian Cavallio brought suit today in the Superior Court against Adolph Cavallio, a San Francisco architect, for a divorce on the ground of failure to provide. The complaint, which was filed by Attorney Clinton G. Dodge, sets up that the couple were married at Redwood City in December, 1906, and that at no time during her marital career has Cavallio provided for his wife.

Likes Drink Better Than Wife

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—Amanda Murdock, who applied to Judge Morgan yesterday for a divorce from William Murdock, a mining man at Placerville, told the court her husband was a slave to liquor. "I like my drink better than I like you, so go ahead and get your divorce," he is alleged to have said to her when she filed suit. The action was begun four years ago, and Mrs. Murdock has ever since been saving up the necessary fees. The decree of divorce was not signed by Judge Morgan because of a defect in service of the summons on Murdock.

Naval Contractor Ordered to Seattle

VALLEJO, July 6.—Naval Contractor Holden Evans, who has been in charge of the construction department of the Alameda navy yard for the last five years, expects to leave next week for Seattle, where he has been ordered as constructing superintendent of the Moran shipbuilding yard. He will relieve Constructor Thomas H. Tuhum. Evans was general manager of the local navy yard under the Newberry consolidation plan.

Will Ask Roosevelt To Attend Congress

SACRAMENTO, July 6.—An invitation to Colonel Theodore Roosevelt to attend the American Mining Congress to be held in Los Angeles in September will be extended by Governor Gillett during the latter part of this week. This is in response to a request made of the Governor by the president of the congress, Sidney Norman of Los Angeles. "I shall be very glad to do all I can to induce former President Roosevelt to come to Los Angeles," said Governor Gillett last night. The congress will be a great thing for California, and is worthy of the best support. There will be many governors there, and I expect to be one of them. I am going to San Francisco today, but will send the invitation to Mr. Roosevelt on my return.

WORK IS RUSHED ON OAKLAND HOTEL

Concrete Bases for the Steel Pillars Expected to Arrive Shortly.

A meeting of the building committee of the Oakland (bankers) Hotel Company will be held Friday, to approve the bonds of those to whom contracts have been awarded.

July 13 a meeting of the Board of Directors will be held. Subscriptions to the stock of the company, which fall due July 1, are coming in rapidly. Many subscribers responded to the call before their subscriptions became due.

The first of the contracts is now being carried out, namely, the contract awarded to the Locke Foundation Company for the raising of the concrete wall to the level of the first floor and the construction of the concrete piers on which the massive steel frame of the big structure will rest. Work was started in Friday and will probably be finished within the next three weeks, or earlier, as the first shipment of structural steel, which is now on its way, is expected to arrive here on or before July 25, and the concrete bases and foundation was must be ready by that time.

The contract calls for an expenditure of $17,500. The hotel site is, therefore, at present a scene of great activity, and once the delivery of the structural steel on the premises begins there will be no abatement in the work of construction until the big carvansary is completed and ready for opening for business.

Heinze Must Serve 10 Days Behind Bars

NEW YORK, July 6.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals, in a decision handed down yesterday, affirmed the sentence of ten days' imprisonment passed by Judge Ray on Arthur F. Heinze, brother of E. Augustus Heinze, after his conviction in June, 1909, on an indictment charging him with obstructing the administration of justice by intimidating the removal and mutilation of the books of the United Copper Company. Because of the mutilation of these books United States District Attorney Wise said he was unable to complete the Government's case against E. Society Woman Hurls Dish for a Pastime

NEW YORK—Mrs. Alice Pierce, the horsewoman, who divorced Tom Pierce, of Boston was in Bellevue Hospital under arrest. They have her down as suffering from alcoholic hysteria.

Mrs. Pierce spent the night in the hospital, her arrest following a dish-throwing escapade at the Central Park Casino.

Mrs. Pierce left her home in Pelham to go to a funeral. She got to the Casino at 10 o'clock in the afternoon, driving her own yellow touring car. She was alone in the Casino she met two friends, and the three sat at a table and talked and ordered refreshments.

"I am quiet of the restaurant was broken when Mrs. Pierce began to pull the cloth off from the table. Walters grabbed up what dishes they could and saved them from the general crash when the cloth came clear off.

Gilt Edged Chorus Girls to Be Masked

PHILADELPHIA—As an advanced advertising dodge Charles Marks will mask 50 of the members of the chorus of "The Gilt-Edged Chorus," who come under the classification of his "gilt-edged horsewives."

The company will begin its engagement in Atlantic City next month, and Marks' plan is that the beauty of his chorus girls is so great that, once they show their faces in public, they will be hustled away to matrimony before he has time to make a change and pay them the pro rata division of their salaries.

The younger E. E. Rosenbaum, who is promoting the scheme, says that it is a real one, but that it could be executed with greater detail in colder weather. He has found six "horsewives" willing to wear masks on the street, but they have demanded $5 a week extra salary for submitting to the eclipse.

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING

Woman's wit has found a way to avert what they call "the insolence" of the New York custom house, and a number of prominent Chicago society women will use a plan whereby they may take jewelry, lingerie and other things abroad and blacken the eye of surpliner on their return.

The society photographer at a registering bureau are the tools. The artists are to be photographed as if about to make that they are not subject to duty.

The photograph and affidavit plan was first put into effect by Mrs. Watson Blair, a society leader of Chicago, and she passed the customs inspectors with flying colors. So far this year so many prominent people have come a grief at New York that Mrs. Blair's friends urged her to disclose her secret method of passing the customs officials unmolested. She told.

Mrs. J. W. Linber, one of the really pretty young matrons of Pittsburg, and a fine judge of horseflesh, Monday afternoon in tears announced that she had sold her entire string of horses. Mrs. Linber, who lives in her own home, 313 Bluff street, Pittsburg, Ark., who is thought to be worth $250,000, her own name, was formerly a manicure girl in the Bijou building. She admits that she has been driven to sell her horses because of mean, jealous mares by her Chicago women competitors in horse shows of the last few years when he practically swept everything Mr. Linber told those arranging the Sewickley Heights show to be held soon that she would not enter. Years ago she saved $1000 and by a lucky investment in stocks tripled it, and she became a speculator. Her luck was golden and she bought a string of horses which took shows by storm and aroused envy.

In an article discussing the subject of smoking among women a writer in The London Chronicle says: "A woman smoker, far from being a result of a decadent civilization, is merely a survival of a rougher and harder life. Even today the women who live the hardest have compatible with twentieth century civilization smoke incessantly. Go into any 'tramps' lodging house and you will find not only old and young women but lots of girls scarcely in their teens puffing contentedly, not at cigarettes, but at pipes charged with black tobacco. It is part of the etiquette of the 'road' for the men after they have vigorously puffed at their 'daddies' to hand them to the women tramps who have no supply.

Marrying Parson' Does a Veritable Marathon

TRENTON, N. J.—His marrying record was smashed by the Rev. Charles H. Elder, pastor of the Trinity M. E. church, when he united nine couples in seven hours the other day. At 3 o'clock this afternoon Mr. Elder went in a auto to Mercer'sville, five miles away, and married Miss Anne Jones to George Yung. The clergyman barely had time to take one kiss from the bride before he hurried back to the auto and returned swiftly to Trenton. Here he wedded another couple at 3:20.

The "marrying parson" had a rest until 5 o'clock and began to fear he was growing unpopular. But at that hour a third couple appeared, more or less blushing, and thenceforth until 9 o'clock he was engaged in his favorite special. In fact, couples entering and leaving the house were bumping into one another most of the evening.

The multiple marrying would not have been so difficult a task had Mr. Elder been able to make his study the place of every hitching. But certain girls wanted to be married in their homes and had to hustle to fill all his engagements.

Two weddings took place in the home of William C. Woolley. The first was that of Miss Edith M. Wright and William

Cupid 'Soldiering' on Job

MISS HANNA RANDOLPH, one of society's favorites.

NEW YORK—Among the prettiest of those buds blossoming in society last year was Miss Hanna Randolph, daughter of Philip S. P. Randolph of this city. Miss Randolph is a sister of Mrs. John G. Pell, whose marriage at Narragansett Pier last week was one of the notable events of the social world. Miss Hanna was maid of honor at her sister's wedding.

Mary Garden Not to Wed; Denies She Is Engaged

PARIS—Miss Mary Garden, the prima donna, is not going to marry Edward L. Stotesbury of Philadelphia, an immensely wealthy banker, and a partner of J. P. Morgan.

In her dressing room of the opera after a superb performance of "Semele," her next to the last appearance in Paris this summer, Miss Garden strongly denied to The Times correspondent the report of her engagement to M. Stotesbury.

Solemnly raising her right hand, which had been caressing the head of St. John the Baptist a few minutes before the songstress declared that she had no intention of marrying Mr. Stotesbury.

Her Ideal of Lover a Heavenly Creature

NEW YORK—What is the modern woman's ideal of a lover? It looks as though a vote will have to be polled on the subject.

The picture of masculine perfection Mrs. Winifred Harper Coker dreams would seem to satisfy the heart, soul and mind of the most fastidious of women. And yet, today Mrs. Lillian Harcourt envisions her ideal with qualities that while they are no less devoutly to be desired are none the less different from Mrs. Coker's.

Mrs. Harcourt is a daughter of Colonel Waddington of Virginia, a member of the Colony Club, and the author of "Womanhood," in describing the modern woman's ideal of a lover, says:

"He must have a healthy mental attitude toward all women.

"He must not eat too much, drink too much of his beer. The only permissible excesses are purely intellectual.

"He must be fond of outdoor sports, the woods and the sea; tender with children and dogs and horses must like him.

"He must be a brunette. The average blonde's brain is as colorless as its thatching. There must be a generous width between his brows, and he must look straight at you when he talks.

"He must be a monogamist.

"He must not have money, but he must have pride. He need not have social position, but he must have nobility. He need not have food family, but he must have breeding.

"He must have large and perfectly formed ears. Small ears mean inferiority of character and lack of nobility.

"He must be willing to acknowledge that when he is in the wrong. He must be an optimist. He must be physically fastidious. No woman who is a real woman could overlook physical defects, no matter how great a man's mind might be.

"He must have a sense of humor. To lack humor is to be most truly stupid. He must not 'nag' or reiterate. A woman of intelligence knows enough to either take a suggestion or choose a different course of her own.

"He must value many things more than money."

Sues for Her Pet Angora

PHILADELPHIA—Mrs. Laura S. Neely of Germantown, has sued Alexander Petro, one of her neighbors, who is manager of the Midvale Steel Works, for the loss of her Angora, "Kitty Clover."

Kitty came to her untimely end through the direct agency of Mr. Petro's bull dog "Bull," and now Mrs. Neely feels that the only thing which will soothe her feelings and atone for the loss of her pet is $500. Kitty was lying on the front steps of the Neely home when "Bull" ambled past one day, and not recognizing $300 worth of cat, but just a bit of his natural prey, started something rough. Kitty Clover had been raised a pet and was not equal to the emergency.

The trouble was of short duration and "Bull," ignorant of the fact that he had destroyed anything that looked like half a thousand dollars, slowly and with wailing stump of tail wounded his way homeward. After the death of the cat Mrs. Neely opened up negotiations with Mr. Petro, but those having no favorable result she decided to let a jury wrestle with the case, which she put in the hands of Nelson L. West.

Asylum Romance Is Now at an End

TRENTON, N. J.—Miss Elsie Dismore Corwell, a beautiful society girl of this city, and Charles F. Sweet, a young artist, whose courtship attracted wide attention were married recently at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Corwell, near Lawrenceville.

This couple's courtship began in the New Jersey State Hospital for the Insane. Both were sent to the asylum as patients suffering from temporary mental trouble. When the two were released local society was startled to learn that they were engaged. The engagement was announced three years ago.

Then came the elopement of Miss Corwell with Sidney Vincent, a New York hypnotist, who, the girl later said, forced her to wed him while she was under a hypnotic spell. Vincent was pronounced demented. Sweet did not let this incident interfere with his love, and it was through him, according to the bride, that she was released from the hypnotic spell and the record of Vincent's exposure. A re-engagement followed.
